generation it will harden into a custom until the badge of inferiority will attach to to the northern white man as odiously as ever the Norman noble stamped it upon the Saxon churl. This subject is of deep interest to the laboring men of the North. With the southern Democracy triumphant in their States and in the nation, the negro will be compelled to work for just such wages as the whites may decree; wages which will amount as did the supplies of the slaves to a bare subsistence equal in cash, perhaps to 35 cents per day if averaged over the entire South, while the laborer in the North will soon feel the distinctive effect of this upon his own wages. The Republicans have clearly seen, from the earliest days of reconstruction, that wages in the South must be raised to a just recompense of laborers or wages in the North, ruinously lowered, and the party have steadily worked for the former result. A reverse influence will now be set in motion, and that condition of affairs produced which years ago Mr. Lincoln warned the free, laboringmen of the North will prove hostile to their independence, and will inevitably lead to ruinous reduction of wages. The mere difference of the color of the skin will not suffice to maintain an entirely different standard of wages in contiguous and adjacent States, and the voluntary will be compeled to yield to the involuntary. States that they regard the advent of that party to national power as the signal of their reënslavement and are affrighted because they think all legical to the chiefs of them is gone. Few persons in the North realize how completely the chiefs of the rebellion wield the political power which has triumphed in the late chiefs of the rebellion wield the political power which has triumphed in the late chiefs of the late Confederacy, ell—and I mean all without a single exception—personally reflicipated in the rebellion against the National Government. It is a still more significant fact that in those States no man who was loyal to the Union, no matter how strong a Democrat be may be to-day, has the slightest chance of political promotion. The one great arenue to honor in that section is the record of zealous service in the war against the Government. It is certainly an astonishing fact that the section in which friendship for the Union. All this takes place during the lifetime of a generation that fought the war, and clowates into the practical command of the American Government the identical men who organized for its destruction and plunged us into the bloodiest contest of modern times. I have spoken of the South as placed by the late election in possession of the Government, and I mean all that my words imply. The South furnished nearly three fourths of the electoral votes that defeated the Reput lican party, and they will step to the command of the Democrats as unchallenged and as unrestrained as they held the same position for thirty years before the civil war.

Gentlemen, there cannot be political inequality among the citizens of a free republic; there cannot be a minority of white men in the South ruing a majority of the white men in the North. Accusta, ME., November 18.—A large number of devoted personal and political friends of B ains serenaded but this evening as an expression of personal good-will and admiration of his conduct of the national campaign. They marched through the streets under the marshalship of Colonel Frank Nye. When they reached Blaine's house their compliments and friendly regards were expressed in a speech by Herbert W. Heath, of the Kennebee bare Blaine responded as follows, his speech being continually interrupted by applause:

Friends and Neighbors: The national contest is over, and by the narrowest of margins we have lost. I thank you for your call, which, if not one of loyous congratulations, is one, I am sure, of confidence and of sanguine hope for the future. I thank you for the public opportunity you give me to express my sense of obligation, not only to you, but to all the Republicans of Maine. They responded to my nomination with genuine enthusiasm; ratified it by a superb vote. I count it as one of the honors and gratifications of my public career that the party in Maine, after strugaling hard for the last six years, and twice within that period losing the State, has come back in this campaign to an oli-fashioned 20,000 plurality. No other expression of popular confidence and esteem could equal that of the people among whom I have lived for thirty years and to whom I am attached by all the ties that ennoble human nature and give joy and dignity to life. After Maine; indeed, along with Maine, my first thought is always of Pennsylvania. How can I fittingly express my thanks for that unparalleled majority of more than 80,000 voles—an endorsement which has, deeply touched my heart, and which is hall transmit to my children. But I do not limit my thanks to the State of my iresdence and the population disfranchised, but the power which rightfully and constitutionally belongs to them is transferred to the white population, enabling the popula-tion of the South to exert an electoral in-funne of the South to exert an electoral in-fluence far beyond that exerted by the same number of white people in the North. To illustrate just how it works to the de-struction of all fair elections, let me pre-sent to you five States in the late Confedesent to you live States in the late Confederacy and five loyal States in the North possessing in each section the same number of electoral votes. In the South the States of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and South Carolina have in the aggregate 48 electoral votes. They have 2,800,000 white people, land over 3,600,000 colored people. In the North the States of Wisconsia Minnesota Lowa Kanasa and Calipeople. In the North the States of Wis-consiu, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, and Cali-forma have likewise in the aggregate 48 elec-tor alvotes, and these have a white population of 5,600,000, or just double the five southern States which I have named. These north-tern States have precifically no calored ern States have practically no colored population. It is therefore evident that the white men in those southern States, by usurping and absorbing the rights of the colored men, are senting included by northern white man in the Lake States. It is to affirm that the Confederate soldier shall wield twice the influence in the nation that the Union soldier can; and that perpetual and constantly-increasing superiority shall be conceded to the southern white man in the government of the Union. If that be quietly conceded in this generation it will harden into a custom until the badge of inferiority will attach to to the northern white man is odiously as white men in the North. Patriotism, self-respect, pride, protection for person and safety for country, all cry out against if. The very thought of it stirs the blood of the men who laberit equality from the pligrims who first stood on Plymouth Rock and from the liberty-loving patriots who came to Delaware with William Penn. It becomes the primal question of American manhood. It demands hearing and settlement, and that settlement will vindleate the conality of American citizens in all personal equality of American citizens in all personal and civil rights. It will at least give equality to white men under the national Government, and will give to the northern New England who worked so nobly for the Republican party and its candi-dates and to eminent scholars and diviace who, stepping aside from their or-dinary avocations, made my cause their cause, and to loyalty, to principle, added the special compliment of standing as my personal representatives in the national struggle. But the achievements for the Reman who fought to preserve it as large a voice in its government as may be exer-cised by the southern man who fought to destroy the Union. The contest just closed utterly dwarfs the fortunes and fate of all the candidates, whether successful or of all the candidates, whether successful or unsuccessful. Purposely—I may say in-stinctively—I have discussed the issues and consequences of that contest without refer-ence to my own deleat; without the re-motest reference to the gentleman who is elevated to the presidency. Towards bim personally I have no cause for the slightest all will, and it is with cordinality I express the wish that his official career was prove actificing to him. publican cause in the East are even sur-passed by the splendid victories in the West. In that magnificent cordon of States that stretches from the foot of the hills of the Alleghanies to the Golden Gate of the Parific, beginning with Ohlo and ending with California, the Republican banner was borne so lofty that but a single State was borne so iofty that but a single State failed to join in the wide acclaim of triumph. Nor should I do justice to my own feeling if I failed to thank the Republicans of the Empire State, who encountered so many discouragements and obstacles; who fought foes from within and foes without, and who waged so strong a battle that the change of one vote in every thousand would have given us victory in the nation. Indeed, a change of a little more than five thousand official career may prove gratifying to hum-self and beneficial to the country, and that his administration may overcome the em-barrassments which the peculiar source of its power imposes upon it from the hour of its birth." of its birth."

At the conclusion of Blaine's speech he invited the large crowd into his house, and for nearly an hour an informal reception was held, as bundreds after hundreds given us victory in the nation. Indeed, a change of a little more than five thousand votes would have transferred New York, Indiana. New Jersey, and Connecticut to the Republican standard, and would have made the North as solid as the South. My thanks would still be incomplete if I should fail to recognize with special gratitude that great body of workingmen, both native and foreign-born, who cave me their corn-

St. John received 425 votes, Butler 10. Other scattering votes brought up the total vote cast to over haif a million, indeed—of the popular vote. The cities of New York and Brooklyn threw their great strength and influence with the solid South, and were the decisive element which gave to that section control of the national Government. Speaking now, not at all as a defeated candidate, but as a loyal and devoted American. I think the transfer of the political power of the Government to the South is a great national misfortune. It is a misfortune because it introduces an element which cannot insure harmony and prosperity to the people; because it introduces into the republic the rule of the minority. The first instinct of an American is equality— 268,000, by far the largest ever east in the State. In the vote for Governor, Alfred M. Scales (Democrat) received 142,799 votes, Tyre York (Republican) 122,942—majority for Scales, 19,857. This is a Democratic gain of 13,620 over the Jarvis-

That cannot be said GORDONSVILLE, November 18, 1884. of any other cutizen." That cannot be said to-day in the United States. The course of affairs in the South has crushed out the political power of more than six million American citizens and has transferred it by violence to others. Forty-two presidential electors, assigned to the South on account of the colored population with more than 1,100,000 legal votes, have been unable to choose a single elector. Even in these States where they have a majority of more than 100,000, they are deprived of free suffrage, and their rights as citizens Loss-house of Johns & Co., at Barbours-ville, destroyed the whole village, with the exception of the Virginia Midland depôt. The eleven States that comprised the rebel Confederacy had by the census of 1880 7,500,000 white population and 5,300,000 colored population. The colored population almost to a man desire to support the Republican party, but by a system of cruel intimidation and by violence and murder, whenever violence and murder are thought necessary, they are absolutely deprived of all political power. If the outrage stopped there it would be bad enough, but it does not stop there, for not only is the negro population disfranchised, but the power Dr. A. L. Hall, Fair Haven, N. Y., says: "Have prescribed it with marked benefit in indigestion and urinary troubles."
